But the jockey knew his business and continued to hand ride well enough to win the race. Star Hampton limped back to the scales, and at first it was believed he had broken down. When he went to his grooming station in the paddock he seemed all right, and it was not until after he had been cooled out that the "surged foot" was discovered. that the "spread foot" was discovered.

When Mr. Daly was asked if he didn't think Ambrose had been too confident the trainer replied: "No, I don't believe in punishing a horse severely, and I have instructed Ambrose not to use the whip unless it is necessary, and never to use it so that it will hurt a rse. Mr. Jeffords is a sportsman who res a thoroughbred, and he would rather lose a dozen purses than to have one of his horses ill used."

Wingold Takes 'Chase,

Wingold, carrying the colors of R. L. s, won the steeplechase. The event was for maidens, and he proved much the best of the field. Mr. Ned, belonging to Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, finished second, two lengths behind the winner, and might have been closer up if he had not jumped poorly during the first round of the course.

War Zone was not compelled to do his sest to win the first race. He merely alloped all the way to heat a hig field of platers over the one mile route. At he judges stand he was eased up three engths ahead of Star Realm. The Beach Stable's Wyndover finished third. Several horsemen put in a claim for Wyndover when he was beaten, but G. C. Winfrey, his trainer, retained him with a claim of $3,015.

Mrs. E. M. Brown's Gloria France made a runaway race of the final event. She had a world of speed, and before the first furiong had been covered was three lengths in front of her opponents. From then to the end she merely galloped to win easily by four lengths from J. Salmon's Betty J.

"Buddy" Ensor, the jockey under con-tract to ride for P. A. Clark and R. T. Wilson, was suspended for five days on Monday for bad behavior at the post.

The mighty Roamer will make his first appearance of the year this after.

gave the gallery an exhibition of some very pretty tennis in defeating Miss Margaret Taylor at 6—2, 6—3. A great many followers of the game figured that Miss Taylor would make more trouble for Mrs. Mills, but Miss Taylor was not at her best.

In the doubles, the national champions, Miss Goss and Miss Zinderstein, won their second round match from Miss Helen McAusian and Mrs. S. A. Mc-Aneny in straight lope sets. Mrs. Wightman and Miss Sears, the Boston entry, which looks like the strongest team in the upper half, won their match from Mrs. T. H. Cassebeer and Miss Edith Handy at 5—4, 6—3. The latter team had won earlier in the day, in the first round, from Miss M. Mulqueen and Mrs. L. E. Bailey at 6-3, 6-0.

Only One Long Contest.

The only long contest of the day was in the second round of the doubles. It resulted in a straight set victory for Caroma Winn over Mrs. S. F. Waring and Miss Jessie Gott, but not until after thirty-two games had been played. The set scores were 9—7, 9—7. The sum-

Beach Fishing on the English Coast.

If "Switch Reel" is an anxious to see what could be done with an eleven foot rod I would suggest that he procure one and let Ellinghausen try it out. I am sure that such casters as Sahdala, Shaw or Kain would not object to feeling it out in practice and then let the heavy weight class go to it at one of the tournaments held under the auspices of the Association of Surf Angler Clubs and compete for the thousand dollar trophy.

The individual clubs can retain the rules as they now stand and restrict the outfits to be used to such as the fisherman uses on the beach and in this way bring about a revival of the interest formerly taken in this branch of the sport.

"Switch Reel" has mentioned several times the sort of rods used by the British. He makes no mention of the distance obtained by the use of such rods with a four ounce lead. I doubt if the average English fisherman knows what surf fishing is. Owing to the extreme rise and fall of the tides on the British coast and the fish beaches it would keep a beach fisherman busy walking out and in following the tide, as I have seen the water's edge two miles from high water mark when the tide recedes to its fullest.
